

CITY RESPONDS TO TRIBUTE TO SOLDIER DEAD

Annual Tribute Is Paid to Those Who Served Country in Time of Conflict

JUDGE BIRDZELL SPEAKS

Voices the Feelings of City in Exercises Held at the Auditorium

Bismarck paused today in honor of the nation's hero dead. The memorial tribute began during the morning, with the decoration of the graves of the soldier dead in the two cemeteries and the scattering of flowers on the river in honor of the sailor dead.

Committees of the American Legion, American Legion Auxiliary, War Mothers and W. R. C. left the American Legion hall at 9 o'clock for the cemeteries, where they placed the flowers on all of the graves of men who had been in the service of the country during a period of armed conflict.

The flag in the Northern Pacific park was at half-mast, as were other flags during the morning. Many business houses and homes displayed the national colors during the day.

Many in Parade. This afternoon a parade and exercises at the Auditorium marked the soldier's tribute. The parade moved promptly at 2 o'clock with Capt. H. T. Murphy in charge. It was led by the Elks band. In line were 200 American Legion men, veterans of the Spanish-American War, veterans of the Civil War in automobiles, war nurses, members of civil and patriotic societies. The Salvation Army band headed the second section of the parade, which included pupils from the Indian school.

The Legion colors were born at the head of the column. The Legion firing squad was the color guard. The squad also went to the cemeteries this morning when volleys were fired in honor of the soldier dead.

The exercises at the auditorium opened with Walter E. Sather, Legion commander, presiding. Rev. Thomas Dewhurst pronounced invocation. Mr. Sather introduced Justice Luther E. Birdzell, chief justice of the supreme court, who made the address. The second part of the exercises was the patriotic pageant. In the pageant were Mrs. O. A. Olson, representing the nation; Miss Mabel Campbell, representing North Dakota; Miss Laverne Hollensworth representing England; Miss Mary Parsons representing France; Miss Esther Taylor as Herald and H. F. O'Hare representing the Spirit of the Soldier Dead, with many girls representing various states and veterans of three wars.

Desire to Pay Tribute. "This is a day set apart to honor those who have been soldiers of the republic," said Judge Birdzell. "I doubt that we would thus set aside a day for such a ceremony if it were not thought that we would confer a benefit upon the country and ourselves by turning aside from the things that distract us to reverently meditate upon the patriotic themes that readily suggest themselves in such a presence and upon such an occasion."

"The fact that we are here in such numbers implies that we are in accord with the spirit of the occasion and have two aims to pay our tribute of profound respect to those who gave or pledged their lives that our country might live. If I am able in the short while allotted to my remarks to express some of the thoughts that I believe to be uppermost in your minds, I shall feel grateful for the opportunity so generously accorded."

"In the midst of a world in turmoil, afflicted with maladjustments of various sorts, due largely to the recent conflict and to the raging fires of battle, the members of which are still smoldering, we find ourselves comparatively happy and measurably contented. This is so because, as we view in retrospect the large events of recent world history, we are filled with gratitude that God has given it to us to see so complete and grand a vindication of the principles upon which our government is founded."

Spirit of Gratitude Voiced. "In this spirit of gratitude, then, we come to lay upon the graves of our soldier dead the floral wreaths that he speaks a never-dying patriotism. For such a ceremony can be no more sacred a thing to be done without thought of its full significance. If I understand the hearts of those who observe this day, they vow by their acts that this soldier dead shall not have died in vain, and that their heritage of patriotism shall rest in worthy hands to be passed on to a deserving posterity."

Langer Boosts
Farmers' Program

William Langer, former attorney general, spoke last evening at Underwood in support of the state industrial program. The address was delivered in the town hall and it was packed to the doors.

Mr. Langer endorsed the league state ticket, especially Senator Balcer, and said that the present administration was not sincere in its intention to carry out the farmers' program. He talked for two hours and devoted considerable time to criticizing the Nestos administration.

How Memorial Day Originated Is Here Told For First Time

Columbus, Ga., May 30.—To the women of Columbus, Ga., belongs the honor of having conceived Memorial Day as we know it today. The first observance was on April 26, 1866. Charleston, S. C., had previously held a form of memorial exercise on May 1, 1865, consisting of dedication ceremonies of the ground where 257 Union soldiers were buried. Ten thousand persons attended the exercises, which were arranged by James Redpath, general superintendent of education. But as this gathering was called for the single purpose of dedicating a cemetery, it could hardly be regarded as the "first Memorial Day."

There were no festivities in connection with the first Memorial Day in Columbus. This was a day of "sad memories." From 1861 to the end of the war Columbus had a Ladies' Aid Society, its purpose being to care for soldiers, ill or wounded, who might come home or who could be reached in the field. In January, 1866, shortly after the end of the struggle, Miss Lizzie Rutherford asked Mrs. Jane Martin, a resident of Greenville who was visiting in Columbus, to join a number of other women at Linwood cemetery in looking after the graves of soldiers who had died in Columbus hospitals. The duty of devotion finished, Miss Rutherford and Mrs. Martin discussed the significance of the work they had been doing in the cemetery.

"Let us continue the Ladies' Aid Society for work of this character," said Miss Rutherford.

Meeting Called

Within a few days, in January of 1865, she called a meeting of the society at the home of Mrs. John Tyler. The house still stands. Those present were Mrs. Robert Carter, president; Mrs. R. A. Ware, Mrs. William G. Woolfolk, Mrs. Clara M. Dexter, Mrs. J. M. McAllister, and Mrs. Charles J. Williams. Neither Miss Rutherford nor Mrs. Martin were able to attend, both being out of the city.

This meeting formed itself into the first Ladies' Memorial Association, with Mrs. Carter as president. Nothing was done toward selecting the date for Memorial Day until Miss Rutherford returned. To her was given the honor of choosing the date. She selected April 26, giving two reasons: first, that it was a day of sad memories, the date upon which General Joseph E. Johnston surrendered his army to the Federals, an act that sealed the fate of the Confederacy; second, it was a date when flowers would be plentiful.

Witness Describes It. Death has claimed all the women who attended the January meeting. There is one person alive, however, who has personal knowledge of the gathering. She is Mrs. M. E. Gray, daughter of Mrs. Tyler. Because she was only fourteen, her mother did not permit her to come into the room, but she attended the first exercises held the following April 26 at the St. Luke Methodist church.

Rapidly Miss Rutherford's idea spread through the south. Mrs. John A. Logan, wife of General Logan, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., learned of the practice while visiting in the south. At her urgent request General Logan issued an order to all Grand Army posts to celebrate Memorial Day on May 30, 1868.

As the year passed, state after state has by an act of legislature, set aside one day each spring as Memorial Day. While most states celebrate May 30, others have set aside April 26, May 10, and June 3.

The American Legion is now urging that May 30 be made a universal Memorial Day, not only throughout the United States but all over the world.

McCormick, president of the International Harvester Company.

"I've been bothered to death," the girl said. "I have nothing to say. I have no explanation to make of my return."

MEMORIAL OF
LINCOLN GIVEN TO THE NATION

President Harding Accepts in Person at Exercises

MANY THOUSANDS ATTEND

Creation of Marble in Memory
Of Former President One of Greatest in World

Washington, May 30, (By the A. P.).—A nation's tribute to its glorious dead reached its climax today at the dedication of the memorial beside the Potomac to Abraham Lincoln by his grateful countrymen.

A former president—Taft—headed the commission which has lavished endless thought on making this stone emblem of American gratitude worthy of the man whose memory it will perpetuate for Americans. The president in person accepted the work in the nation's name.

Spread across the wide terraces, the lawns and the circling drive-ways that have been made to give the memorial building a setting were thousands of Americans and distinguished men from foreign lands, also came to pay homage at this shrine of democratic liberty. Close about the rising tiers of marble steps were gathered the men who today hold in their hands the destinies of that "government of the people, by the people and for the people," which Lincoln gave his life to maintain but behind these and over a mile-wide sweep of the mall and clear away to the base of the Washington monument a mile distant from the memorial were the common folks from whom Lincoln came and for whom he toiled until he was cut down by an assassin's bullet.

Beautiful Structure

The Lincoln Memorial, the gift of the nation to the memory of Abraham Lincoln, is one of the world's most beautiful structures and the greatest shrine of the man who saved the union. Impressive in its simplicity, the memorial probably is the masterpiece of all public buildings and memorials in the United States. It stands in Potomac Park facing the Washington monument, and its construction was begun on Lincoln's birthday anniversary in 1914. The total cost has been approximately $3,000,000.

This monument to Lincoln is a large rectangular building of white marble, designed by Henry Bacon, a New York architect. It has a beautiful setting on a direct east and west line with the Washington monument and the nation's capitol and rises 144 feet above the level of the park. It is composed of four principal features—a statue of the man, a memorial of his Gettysburg address, a memorial of his second inaugural address and a symbol of the Union of the States.

Statue in Marble

The most important object in the memorial is the statue of Lincoln in marble, by Daniel Chester French, New York sculptor, placed in the central hall where, by virtue of its imposing position in the place of honor, it predominates all else. The statue is colossal in size and yet distinctively personal. It represents Lincoln seated in ad thoughtful mood, and is the first thing that meets the eye as one passes through the immense colonnaded entrance. Smaller halls, one at either side of the central hall, contain monumental tablets—large deeply incised letters reproduce word for word, Lincoln's Gettysburg address on the left wall and the address made by him at his second inauguration on the right wall. Above these are two large mural paintings by Jules Guerlin, a New York artist, one typifying "Emancipation" and the other typifying "Reunion." Their production occupied three years' time.

Surrounding the exterior of the walls inclosing these memorials is a magnificent colonnade forming a symbol of the union, each column representing one of the 36 states existing at the time of Lincoln's death. On the outer walls above the colonnade and supported at intervals by eagles are 48 festoons, one for each state existing at the present time.

At one end of the great axis, planned over a century ago, is the capitol of the nation, which is the monument of the government, and a mile westward from the capitol is the 555-foot granite shaft which is the monument to George Washington. Now on this same great axis half a mile west of the Washington monument stands the Lincoln Memorial. This completes an unparalleled composition, a trilogy which imparts to each of its monuments a value in

I. V. A. FUSION PARTY WILL DIRECT PRIMARY FIGHT AS FAR AS STATE ISSUES ARE INVOLVED

Minutes of Bi-Party Committee of Forty-Five Published in Full.
Show General Workings of Scheme. Agreements Signed and Pledges Made Preliminary to I. V. A. State Campaign.
Unique Drive Against Operation of Primary Laws.

North Dakota politics in regard to fusion plans in the primary election now in full blast is interesting the voters. The Tribune has secured the complete minutes of the Committee of Forty-Five and herewith publishes them at length. It is an interesting document showing what versatility is necessary under present political conditions to defeat or nullify the action of the primary law in North Dakota.

Few politicians are satisfied with the primary law but there has been no concerted effort to secure its repeal. There seems evident the same cowardice in respect to this law as there is toward scrapping the industrial program.

Some politicians will concede that the primary law is popular with the rank and file of the people and that it would be political suicide to urge its repeal. Every political trick, however, that can be utilized, it is pointed out, is being employed to secure certain results by checking the full and unrestricted operation of the law.

There is a growing demand among those who would like to fight out the issue honestly to refer a law soon repealing the primary law and restoring legal party conventions. The Committee of Forty-Five is to handle the state campaign for the Nestos administration.

The most unique contrivance to subvert the primary is here-with published in full:

M'CUMBER ASKED TO VIOLATE LAW

Conditions Laid to Political Support
Contrary to Corrupt
Practices Act

PRIMARY LAW FLOUTED

Combination to Defeat Candidate Is Violation of Law
In North Dakota

Friends of Senator McCumber in commenting upon Theodore G. Nelson's letter to Messrs. Jackson and Kelly point out that to accept the terms as laid down in this remarkable political ultimatum would be a direct violation of the federal and state corrupt practices act regardless of the general ethics involved. In order to secure the support of the I. V. A., Mr. Nelson in his letter laid down certain things Senator McCumber and his friends must do, chiefly was to let the Real Republican Committee name a successor to Gunter Olson, national committeeman, remove Judge Miller to another jurisdiction and reward certain Democrats and Republicans with jobs who have been active in the I. V. A. fight. Last but not least Senator McCumber was to see to it that his friends contributed liberally to the primary and general election funds.

The law permits contributions to political committees.

What the Law Says

Sec. 195-provision 6 of the federal corrupt practice act reads:

"No candidate for representative in congress or for senator of the United States shall promise any office or position to any person, or to use his influence or to give his support to any person for any office or position for the purpose of procuring the support of such person or of any person in his candidacy; nor shall any candidate for senator of the United States give, contribute, expend, use or promise any money or thing of value to assist in procuring the nomination or election of any particular candidate for the legislature of the state in which he resides but such candidate may, within limitation and restrictions and subject to the requirements of this act contribute to political committees having charge of the disbursement of campaign funds."

Mr. Nelson in his letter it was pointed out was brutally frank just what political plunder Senator McCumber should promise to deliver in return for the support of the Independent organization.

The provision of the state's corrupt practices act covering the same situation is as follows:

"No person shall, in order to aid or promote his nomination or election directly or indirectly promise to appoint another person or to secure or aid in

The first order of business after adjournment was a motion offered by A. B. Jackson that the Chair appoint a committee of six, three Republicans and three Democrats, to recommend to the committee of the whole a basis for the distribution of state offices. Motion seconded and carried.

Before the appointment of this committee S. J. Doyle proposed the following motion, seconded by A. B. Jackson:

It is the sense of the Committee of Forty-five that both Republicans and Democrats proceed to hold state conventions for the purpose of recommending to the voters of the state candidates for the different state offices for their respective party nominations. (Continued on Page 3)

ST. ALEXIUS GRADUATING EXERCISES

Held in the City Auditorium
Last Saturday Evening—

ADDRESS BY R. A. NESTOS

Baskets and vases of gorgeous red roses and white carnations, and tulips of various shades afforded an appropriate floral stage setting for the exercises of the graduating class of nurses from St. Alexius hospital training school Saturday evening at the city auditorium.

The program was delightful from the time it opened with a selection by St. Mary's orchestra until it was concluded by another orchestral number. Gov. R. A. Nestos delivered the class address. The Rt. Rev. Bishop Wherry gave a brief talk on the "No pity of service" before conferring the diploma which Miss Hohlhouse, superintendent of nurses, handed him. The graduates were Misses Irene Carlson, Ida Grotzsch, Loretta Singer, and Myrtle Briggs. Dr. V. J. LaRosa paid a fitting tribute to the memory of Miss Emch, a graduating nurse who died just previous to graduation.

Henry Halverson, Frank L. Gale, and Mrs. Henry Bauer furnished special selections for the occasion. "I've Just Been Wondering" and "Twilight," as sung by Mr. Halverson were the essence of quiet beauty. Mr. Gale received vigorous applause at the conclusion of his first selection "When the Heart is Young," and sang "Shadows" as an encore. Mrs. Bauer delighted her audience with two rippling piano solos which were appreciated by the large audience which at most filled the auditorium.

Urges Perseverance.
"I am glad to be here and speak to you for the present graduating class," said Governor Nestos. "I know that time and time again they have been told that a noble profession they have chosen and what a wonderful chance they have of serving humanity, so I shall not tell them of that tonight."

"I am glad to notice that you, who have learned one of the lessons that comes to every person who is seeking a profession or business in life. You have won by perseverance. One cannot make a success in her profession unless she is able to persevere."

"The dictionary gives us this definition of perseverance, 'to pursue steadily any course which you have begun. Perseverance comes when you set out to do a thing and you stick to it and you have achieved what you set out to do.'"

The governor illustrated by a story of a young man who set out to attend an eastern institution of learning. Through perseverance this young man though too light to be a regular member of the football team, fitted himself to be thrown into the lineup at a critical moment and win the game. Other illustrations were given.

Urges Good Reading.

"I hope that you will always be students in the 'School of Life,'" said the governor. "You must keep reading and improve and enlarge your mind and life. There are said to be two classes of books, namely: books of information and books of inspiration. In the first stages of your nursing you must study the books of information but do not neglect the books of inspiration. Above all do not forget the Bible. You will be a comfort to your patients if you have a knowledge of the Bible."

"You must live the highest kind of a life that is possible. Many of us do not realize our possibilities and duties—we live a life on a lower plane when it is our duty to have high morals."

"I know that you are going to meet with success in life in spite of the opposition you will meet with, the discouragements, and that you will win out in spite of all these things. Our lives will be blessed if we are able to bless others in our life's work. Your training has given you real ideals—you are girls of character and in going out to render service you will go on time to grow from things that are great now to things that will be great in years to come."

In paying a tribute to the memory of Lois E. Emch, member of the graduating class who died recently, Dr. V. J. LaRosa said: "The class of 1922 has recently experienced a great sorrow in the death of Miss Lois E. Emch. She contracted an acute illness and died a few weeks ago, a martyr to her profession. Let us pause a few moments and pay silent tribute to her memory."

"Cardigan" Tells Story of Romance Of Revolution

"Cardigan" tells a thrilling tale of the most wonderful thing ever happened in American history. It is from the well known historical novel by Robert W. Chambers, America's favorite novelist and was made on the exact spots where history was written. The picture is the first real, 100 per cent American historical motion picture ever made.

It opens in Northern Johnstown, New York, two years before the Revolution, with the love story of a young Irish boy, an unwilling subject of the tyrant English king, and the ward of the English governor. The love affair of the youngsters creates an animosity which blossoms forth into the firing of the first shot for world independence—an accurate historical fact, as recorded in the history books of the United States.

Young Cardigan is torn asunder from his young love and through fighting to gain her respect and confidence he is almost burned at the stake, having been accused of a triple murder. He is released, however, when the truth becomes known, and it is then that he learns of the perfidy of Captain William Butler, the

By Gene Cohn
San Francisco, May 29.—Science has discovered a wonder child here—Betty Ford, 10.

Though she has never attended school or received special training at home, this little girl has read 1400 books, gained a wide knowledge of history, astronomy and biology, and has written several hundred poems. Here's how Betty's mind unfolded. Her memory dates back to the time of landing by bottle at the age of 12 months.

At 19 months she spoke words clearly and knew the alphabet. At 20 months she could put picture puzzles together.

When 22 months old she could name 22 birds in a picture. At 30 months she began inventing stories and at 33 months she had composed jingles and rhymes.

STRICKEN WHILE DRIVING AUTO

Miss Helen Saylor, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Saylor, is convalescing today after an unusual attack of illness Saturday evening while out driving with her parents. Miss Saylor was driving the automobile downtown. A chum was sitting with her in the front seat of the car and Mr. and Mrs. Saylor were in the rear seat.

Miss Helen found herself unable to use her limbs. She was taken home quickly and a physician called. She apparently was recovering today. The illness was said to have its origin in the spine, causing a temporary paralysis.

WILL CAMPAIGN BY AIRPLANE

Minot, N. D., May 29.—Chester Jacobson, Minot aviator, candidate for Ward county sheriff in a field of five aspirants finds an auto too slow in coming down the home stretch of his campaign and has decided to use his airplane. He declares he will make a farm to farm canvass with his machine.

"When I see a farmer working in the field, I will make a landing right near, do my canvassing and be off to the next farm," says Mr. Jacobson. "I am satisfied I can cover a great deal more country than I could by use of a car."

Ward county, it is believed, is the

TENDENCIES OF TIMES

The baccalaureate sermon for the graduating class of nurses from the Bismarck hospital was delivered last evening by Bishop G. Heimiller of Cleveland, Ohio, at the Evangelical church. Rev. C. F. Strutz assisted.

Mrs. J. A. Hyland and Miss Hulda Hildea sang "How Sweet the Name of Jesus." Spencer Boise delighted the audience with a beautiful vocal solo. Miss Boise played the accompaniment.

Bishop Heimiller who is a widely traveled minister of the gospel took "For the Love of Christ Restraineth Us" as the keynote of his talk. The subject which was profusely illustrated by incidents and happenings experienced by Reverend Heimiller at various places on both continents held his audience enthralled to the very end. He asserted that he was intensely interested in the present century because of the great activity.

"While the 19th century will be known for its inventions and discoveries, the 20th century will be famous as a period of intense activity," declared Bishop Heimiller.

"It is because of the hustle and bustle of Cleveland that I prefer it to the beautiful cities of North Dakota. For the same reason, I should prefer to live in New York rather than in Cleveland. There is more of the rush and activity in the larger cities which makes them fascinating to me," said the Bishop.

"The greatest impelling force in man is his love for man," stated the speaker. The motive, therefore, which is behind the woman who takes up nursing as a profession is of great importance. Those with high ideals and integrity will find in their chosen profession a wonderful opportunity to serve mankind, and the greatest happiness in life is to love your chosen work."

Thoughts which the Bishop left with the graduating nurses and the audience.

Clean the Slate and Save the State

There Should Be No Further Compromise With State Socialism.
Getting Back to Solid Ground Means Abolition of the So-called Industrial Program in North Dakota.

This Platform is the Pledge of Harvey L. Stegner, Republican Candidate For Governor.

"A crisis confronts the State of North Dakota, which neither the Nonpartisan League nor the I. V. A. organization has the courage to face. Candidates indorsed by both of these factions are asking the support of the electorate upon a program of continued State socialism."

"In announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor at the June primaries I challenge the position of both League and I. V. A. machines upon the issues of Socialism."

Scrap All State Owned Enterprises.

"I favor scrapping all the State industries, favored alike by the League and I. V. A. organizations, to the end that prevailing ruinous taxes may be reduced and the sale of bonds for socialistic ventures to further burden the people of this State may be stopped."

"I favor turning the key in the door of the Bank of North Dakota, an institution which upon the admission of the I. V. A. Administration has lost more than $600,000.00 and promises to lose much more before liquidation is complete."

Opposed To Finishing Mill

"I am opposed to the completion of the mill and elevator at Grand Forks, where millions of the taxpayers' money are being foolishly squandered solely to bait votes and to experiment in State socialism proven to be a fallacious and ruinous economic policy as in the case of the Drake mill, the State creamery at Werner and The Bank of North Dakota."

"The time has come to take an honest position on State socialism as reflected in the platforms of both League and I. V. A. organizations. Republicans should repudiate a leadership, whether League or I. V. A., which countenances a continuation of State socialism."

"I am a Republican and opposed to fusion with Democrats to the detriment of the principles of that great party as promulgated by Abraham Lincoln, Ulysses S. Grant, McKinley and our beloved President, Warren G. Harding."

"As a Republican I am opposed to the conspiracy to sell out the Republican party and elect Democrats to office and to place their henchmen in favored places under the flimsy guise of fighting State socialism when it is so apparent that the I. V. A. program is as socialistic, Utopian and impossible of successful fruition as that of the Nonpartisan League."

A Mere Sham

"This sham should be exposed and all Republicans who cherish the credit and fair name of this great State should rally to the defeat of socialism whether fathered by the I. V. A. bosses or League henchmen."

"I am opposed to delivering the State to the loan sharks and money barons of St. Paul and Minneapolis and deplore the recent utterances of Governor R. A. Nestos when, hat in hand, he waited in the outer lobbies of the great financial institutions of the Twin Cities to tell their officers that 'North Dakota is not broke.'"

"I am for North Dakota, for North Dakotans and the settlement of our economic problems without interference or dictation on the part of the great money brokers of the Nation, who willingly assist the I. V. A. machine in its mad plunge into State socialism because that means profits for them. Before the Recall the same financial ring was eager to take North Dakota bonds from the Nonpartisan League machine. The Recall shifted the sale of State securities from Toledo to the Twin Cities."

"I will challenge with all the power at my command the incompetency of the Nonpartisan League administration and deplore its record of maladministration. But under the I. V. A. program of State socialism the same condition will occur unless the electorate check a continuation of the socialistic enterprises. There can be no real progress toward normalcy in North Dakota unless there is an end to compromise on the issue of State socialism."

Opposes Nestos-Baker

Millions have been lost or sunk in State owned industries and neither Governor Nestos or his opponent B. F. Baker can defend the industrial program for which they both stand in view of the deplorable record made and the losses incurred, all of which must be paid by the people of North Dakota."

"I appeal to those who desire to make a fight for principle rather than for office and for political plunder. If nominated and elected, I pledge to work for the immediate abolition of the State industrial program and will lend what influence I can as Governor to the summoning of a constitutional convention to rewrite the organic law of this State and restore sane representative government and eradicate every vestige of socialism from its State Constitution."

"Upon these issues and pledges I announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor at the Primaries, June 28th."

SOLDIER DEAD PAID TRIBUTE BY GOV. NESTOS

Delivers Memorial Day Address
In His Old Home Town,
Minot

QUOTES FRENCH SCHOLAR

Minot, N. D., May 30.—Paying tribute to ideals that led the soldier folk of all nations to war for that which they individually or their national leaders considered right, Governor R. A. Nestos paid tribute today, not only to the soldiers of the blue uniform of the sixties, but to the long line of men of armor whose battles had added to the democracy of the world.

"In the United States we do not express this love by marble shafts, storied urns or granite tombs," said the governor in telling of the appreciation of the world for the soldier "but with the color and fragrance of flowers, more fittingly representing our love and admiration for those who have fought, suffered, and died for their country, and in promotion of the ideals for which our country stands, renewing these each year as our appreciation is continually new." "It fills our heart with joy and pride to realize that that is the growth of popular government and the ideals of liberty and democracy," continued the speaker. "The United States has always been looked upon as peculiarly the place where the principles underlying such popular government and the participation of all men in the shaping of their affairs is being tested out. During this growth and development of democracy in our country, we have taken a keen interest in the struggles between democracy and autocracy in every part of the world. Even when Washington, in his farewell address, called our attention to the desirability of avoiding entangling alliances with the European countries, it did not even then mean that we had ceased to take an active and sympathetic interest in the struggles of the common people of the European countries to gain political recognition and to secure at least a measure of democracy in their own land.

"Praise From the French
"We find that the great French economist and statesman, said that the American people is the hope of mankind. It must show to the world by its example that man can be free and tranquil and can do without the chains that tyrants and cheats of all ages have tried to lay on them under pretense of public good. It must give the example of political liberty, religious, liberty, commercial and industrial liberty."

"How often we applaud and follow the plausible demagogue who furiously incites us to demand some obscure or even questionable right while we turn our backs upon the sincere preacher who solemnly urges us to perform some obvious duty. A spirit of love, loyalty, honor and truth is a great blessing and more sacred than the most clamorous right."

BISMARCK GETS CONVENTION OF DISABLED VETS

State Organization Meeting in Grand Forks Also Honors
Oscar Selvig

H. F. Patterson of Grand Forks was named state commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War at the second annual convention in Grand Forks. Other Grand Forks men elected were Bentley Nelson, state adjutant, and Stanley Lovell, state treasurer. Oscar Selvig of Bismarck was elected vice commander.

Bismarck was named as the place for the 1923 convention, and one of the Fargo delegates to the national convention at San Francisco was authorized to represent the state department at that gathering, there being not sufficient funds with which to send another delegate.

Resolutions were adopted endorsing a proposed amendment to the Sweet bill, whereby tubercular and mental patients may be treated in an additional year in which to apply for government aid, and also endorsing the decentralization plan, and the pending bonds bill.

Among those addressing the convention during the day sessions were: T. C. Hoverson of Fargo, outgoing state commander and state manager of the United States Veterans' bureau, Dr. J. E. Soper of Minneapolis, another bureau representative, Mayor Henry O'Keefe of Grand Forks, who welcomed the visitors, and Miss Nora Rasmussen of Fargo, who responded for the disabled veterans.

nations; and it is further recommended that the said state conventions be held on the same day and in the same city."

After a thorough discussion as to the advisability of giving this resolution to the public press, and of having the resolution include the words "on the same day and in the same city," the motion was carried as originally proposed.

The Chair then announced the membership of the committee on the distribution of state offices, as follows: A. B. Jackson, J. D. Bacon, Mrs. Mary Blaisdell (Republicans), and S. J. Doyle, R. B. Murphy, Mrs. J. L. Lee (Democrats).

The committee of six, appointed by the Chair, reported as follows:

"Your committee begs to recommend that all present incumbents of state offices elected by the support of the independent voters of the state, be renominated by their respective parties for the offices which they now hold; and that the remainder of the ticket be made up in such a manner that the result of the selection will give to the representatives of the Democratic party the support of the Independent forces for not less than one-third of the state offices."

(Signed) A. B. Jackson, R. B. Murphy, S. J. Doyle, Mary R. Blaisdell, Mrs. J. L. Lee.

A. B. Jackson moved the adoption of the report. Report adopted.

Treadwell Twichell proposed the following motion, seconded by Theo. S. Nelson.

One-Third to Democrats.

"It is the sense of this committee that the chairman of this meeting issue a statement for the publication of the work of this committee, in such detail as will give the voting public knowledge of our action; and that we have agreed on the necessity of the Republican and Democratic state conventions, with an assurance that the state offices be distributed on a basis of not less than one-third to the Democrats."

After an extended discussion, the motion was amended by W. H. Stutsman to read as follows:

"It is the sense of this committee that the chairman of this meeting issue a statement for the publication of the work of this committee, in such detail as will give the voting public knowledge of our action; and that we have agreed on the necessity of the Republican and Democratic state conventions, with an assurance that the state offices shall be distributed ON AN EQUITABLE BASIS AS BETWEEN THE DEMOCRATS AND REPUBLICANS."

The amended motion carried.

J. M. Kelly proposed the following motion, seconded by R. B. Murphy:

"In order to promote unity and conserve campaign energy and funds in behalf of the Independents, it is the sense of this committee that the chairman of the Republican and Democratic committees, and the executive secretary of the I. V. A., be constituted a committee to work out a system of joint assembling of funds for the primary campaigns for each of the various bodies in proportion to their respective needs; and urge that this procedure be approved by the Republican and Democratic conventions."

Treadwell Twichell proposed that the motion be amended to read as follows:

How to Handle Funds.

"In order to promote the unity and conserve campaign energy and funds in behalf of the Independents, it is the sense of this committee that the chairman of the Republican and Democratic committees, and the executive secretary of the I. V. A., be constituted a committee to work out a system of joint assembling of funds for the primary campaigns for each of the various bodies in proportion to their respective needs; AND THAT THE SAID COMMITTEE HAVE CHARGE OF THE CAMPAIGNS, and urge that this procedure be approved by the Republican and Democratic conventions."

The amended motion carried.

Theo. G. Nelson offered the following motion:

"It is the sense of this committee that Mrs. W. A. McIntyre and Mrs. W. H. Porter (members of the original joint campaign committee) be added to this joint campaign committee."

Motion seconded and carried.

S. J. Doyle offered the following motion seconded by A. B. Jackson:

Socialistic Control.

"This committee urges upon the independent voters of the state, both Republicans and Democrats, the necessity for special diligence at the coming primary elections in the selection of precinct committeemen, to the end that the organizations may be kept free from socialistic control."

Motion carried.

Mr. Ludwose offered a motion that B. F. Spaulding, S. J. Doyle and Theo. G. Nelson be constituted a committee to draft a tentative platform on state issues to be submitted to the resolution committee of each of the Republican and Democratic conventions in order to insure the greatest harmony possible in the declaration of the state issues.

Motion carried.

Johnson's Letter

The following official statements were attached to minutes:

Bismarck, N. D., March 15, 1922.

Fellow Democrats:

At the recent meeting of the Democratic state central committee held at Fargo on March 3rd, it was voted that the chairman appoint a committee of fifteen Democrats, eight men and seven women, to confer with similar committees appointed by the Republicans and the Independent Voters association.

The purpose of this conference is to canvass the political situation generally and to perhaps suggest ways and means whereby the state may be saved from coming into the control of the forces that heretofore controlled it. The committee appointed by the Democrats has no power to enter into any binding or final arrangement; it is the understanding of the state central committee that this committee will report to the next meeting of the state central committee and to the Democratic convention to be called later.

I am asking you to serve on this committee. I believe you will be rendering the party and the state a distinct service in accepting this appointment. There will probably be no meeting for some time except the one of this joint committee of forty-five, which has been called for March 23rd at ten o'clock a. m. in Fargo. If you can attend this meeting, which I hope you will, then it will not be necessary to meet again until some time after the primaries, probably in July or August. You will observe that you will not have to make many trips. I trust that you will accept this appointment and be sure to attend the meeting at Fargo as above indicated. Please advise me by return mail of your acceptance.

The time and place of the state convention has not yet been definitely determined but it will be made known just as soon as we fix it.

With kind regards, I am sincerely yours.

Statement of Deliberations

At the meeting of the "Committee of 45" held at Fargo yesterday, resolutions were adopted recommending that there be held Republican and Democratic State Conventions and that they be held in the same city, on the same date—but not in a joint convention. It was the sense of the Committee that the Conventions be held at an early date as possible.

The Republican Central Committee has already fixed Jamestown as the city in which their convention is to be held.

After a careful consideration of the matter of co-operation between Real Republicans and Democrats in this forthcoming election, resolutions were adopted giving assurance that there would be the closest possible co-operation between the two parties and that there would be an entirely satisfactory and equitable distribution of state offices between the two parties in proportion to the vote that each party contributed to the Independent ticket in the Recall election.

Would Register Democrats as Republicans.

The same joint campaign arrangement with reference to the handling of the interests of the independent Republicans and Democrats in the primary and general elections which prevailed two years ago as a result of the recommendation and action of the Committee of 21, was entered into by the Committee of 45; namely, that the details of the campaign work be left in the hands of the executive heads of the Real Republican and Democratic committees and the I. V. A. and that Mrs. W. A. McIntyre and Mrs. W. H. Porter be added to this Committee. Arrangements were also made for the joint assembling of necessary campaign funds as was done two years ago. This action of the committee was made subject to ratification by the Republican and Democratic Conventions.

It was the sentiment of the Committee that the first fight for the independent Cause this year would likely have to be made in the Republican primaries and that therefore Independent Democrats would be urged to register and vote as Republicans as far as possible without endangering their own interests in the Democratic primaries. This was done two years ago to such an extent that only 7920 Democratic votes were cast for J. F. T. O'Connor, the Democratic nominee for Governor. The Democratic vote for President in the last general election was 37,422.

Report of Sub-Committee to Republican State Central Committee

"We, your committee, named to prepare and submit to this committee a motion covering the matter of the appointment of a committee of 15 Republicans to act with a like number of Democrats, to be named by the Democratic state central committee, and like number of members to be named by the state committee of the Independent Voters' association, to comprise a joint campaign committee of 45, offer the following motion and move its adoption:

That the chairman of the real Republican state central committee be and he is hereby authorized and empowered to name a committee of 15 Republicans, to consist of eight men and seven women, such members so named as such committee of 15 to act with a like number of Democrats, appointed by the Democratic state central committee, and a committee of like number of members appointed by the state committee of the Independent Voters' association, the whole to comprise a committee to be known as the Joint Committee of 45; that the 15 Republicans so named shall be and are authorized and empowered to consider with the said Democrats so named and the said I. V. A. members of the said committee of 45 so named, and devise ways and means of conducting the coming campaign in this state in a manner best suited to insure the election in November of state officials and members of the legislature opposed to socialism.

That it is the thought of the Republican state committee that the Joint committee of 45 shall organize and meet at the earliest practicable moment for the consideration of matters respecting the campaign, and that as soon thereafter as may be, the Republican members of such committee of 45 shall report back to this, the Republican state committee, the results of their deliberations and joint action. That thereafter, if not inconsistent with such report of action as taken by such joint committee of 45, the chairman of this Republican state central committee shall issue a call for a state Republican convention for the purpose of endorsing candidates to be voted for at the June primaries, such convention to be held at the place designated by this Republican state committee, representation there to be upon a basis of apportionment fixed by this committee and the date of such convention to be determined by the chairman of this committee."

Statement of Conditions

In connection with the approaching primary election it is not only proper but it is the duty of all unselfish public spirited citizens of North Dakota to consider carefully what needs to be done to protect and promote the welfare of the state and its citizens.

There is not the slightest doubt but that a majority of the voters are now convinced that there has been the most unpardonable public and private grafting even in places where money would not formerly believe that there was any. Much of it has been with the approval and participation of the state officials. There is also no doubt but that a majority of the voters are agreed that the Independent officials have done very well so far, and therefore, believe that they should not only be returned to their respective offices but that they should be given support by the election of others to other places so that the ideals and program of the Independent administration may be applied to all departments of state government.

Statistics compiled from the returns of the last general and recall elections create a doubt as to whether or not such desire, on the part of the voters can be realized unless the voters in both dominant political parties who are agreed with reference to state policies can get together on state and legislative candidates regardless of their respective party affiliations with reference to national affairs.

In support of the contention that there is ground for doubt, the following facts are submitted for your consideration:

In the recall election, by means of which the Independents obtained control of the governorship and the industrial commission—the two most important parts of our state government—Republicans and Democrats who are agreed as to political and economic policies that should prevail within the state, worked and voted together without any thought of whether they were Republicans or Democrats. Working on that basis, Nestos received 111,434 votes, which it will be noticed is within 1,054 of the number of votes that O'Connor received in the last general election although his name was in the Democratic column. Frazier received 107,332 votes in the recall election or 9,786 votes less than he received in the general election a year ago.

The total vote for governor in the 1920 general election was 229,606. Of this number O'Connor received 112,438 while Frazier received 117,118. President Harding, whose name was only a few lines above Frazier's in the Republican column, received 160,072 votes and this in spite of the fact that there were 22,816 less votes cast for president than for governor.

The total vote cast for governor in the recall election was 218,766 or 10,840 votes less than was cast for governor in the general election last year. The most of these can probably be accounted for by the fact that the absent voters ballot was not permitted in the recall election.

In the six elections last preceding the advent of woman's suffrage the Republican vote for governor ranged from 39,811 to 46,849 except the Frazier vote in 1918, which was 87,605. During the same time the Democratic vote for governor ranged from 31,544 to 49,398 except the McArthur vote in 1916 which was 20,351. Later events suggest with force that while Frazier fooled a lot of conservative people in both parties with his promises of cautious procedure, some of his associates made a deal with McArthur and the socialists so that he (Frazier) obtained practically all of the socialist vote and most of the Democratic vote in 1916. McArthur was the Democratic nominee for governor who shortly after the election became private secretary to the Republican congressman, John Baer.

The vote for governor since the advent of woman suffrage is as follows:

1920 General Election
Frazier, republican 117,118; O'Connor, democratic 112,438.

1921 Recall Election
Frazier, 107,332; Nestos, 111,434.

No party lines were observed nor were there any republican or democratic columns on the ballot in the recall election.

The foregoing statistics, together with the fact that in spite of the Republican land-slide, which was experienced in this state last fall, the Democratic nominee for president received 37,500 votes indicate clearly that the normal democratic vote in our state (now men and women) is in the neighborhood of 50,000 and the number of Anti-Townley, Anti-Socialists, State Central Committee in the democratic organization indicates further that at least 90% of the democratic vote as now constituted is Anti-Townley and that in the Nestos vote in the recall election there is, therefore, probably included forty thousand or more democratic votes.

Success Not Assured

In the face of these figures it must be evident to every thinking Independent voter that the reelection of the present Independent state officials is no means assured if the Independent vote is divided between two sets of candidates (Republican and Democratic) in the Primaries. In other words, if the Independents make an effort in the primary election to nominate a complete state ticket on both the Republican and Democratic ballots they may lose both places before the general election is over. Forty thousand democratic votes withdrawn from the Nestos vote in the June primaries may be sufficient to defeat all Independent candidates on the Republican ballot in that primary in spite of tremendous gains that have been made in favor of the Independent administration. If that should happen then the disgust and discouragement of the average Independent voter will be so great that the whole Republican part of the Nestos vote (75,000 or 80,000) can probably not be induced to move as a body to the Democratic column in the general election. No set of democratic candidates can be elected without at least as many Republican votes as there were republicans that voted for Nestos in the recall election.

Cold Facts
These facts are cold, but they are facts nevertheless. The political leaders of our state will do well to face them as they are and realize that personal ambition and political manipulation for partisan advantage will need to be side-tracked if the credit and good name of our state, both which we are now commencing to regain, shall not be jeopardized again this fall.

What is true as to the state ticket is true with great or perhaps greater force with reference to election of members of the legislature in about a dozen legislative districts in the state. This one can readily see by perusing the following statistics:

The Independent majority in Nelson County 385, but the Democratic vote in spite of the Republican land-slide was 501 or nearly one-fourth more than the Independent majority if even as small a democratic vote as was cast be withdrawn from the Independent ranks in this district in the primary election the Independent Republican nominees for the legislature would be defeated unless the Independent Republican vote should be increased by at least 106 votes.

Democratic Vote

In Pierce county the Independent majority was 274, but if the democratic vote of 294 is withdrawn it will more than wipe it out.

Benson County the Independent majority was 80. The democratic vote was 680. Practically no chance to elect Independent legislators here either if the Independents try to do it in two camps, that is to have candidates both on the republican ticket and on the democratic ticket.

In Towner county the Independent majority was 251 but the Democratic vote was 476 or nearly twice as large. The senator from that county is now an Independent but he was elected in a special election in which the voters did not separate as Republicans and Democrats.

In the 32nd district, Eddy and Foster counties, the Frazier majority has been reduced to 18 but the Independent vote in the recall election in this district included 948 democrats. If these should be withdrawn a change of practically five hundred votes would be required in order to nominate Independent legislators, on the republican ballot in the primaries. If the Democrats and Republicans work together a change of less than fifty would accomplish the desired result.

If Republicans and Democrats work together in Wells County there may be a chance to elect the house members there because the Frazier majority was reduced from 504 to 242 between the general and recall elections. The democratic vote was 456.

In Dickey County the Independent majority was 125, the Democratic vote was 766. The members of the legislature from this county were nominated in an I. V. A. Convention composed of Democratic and Republicans last year and elected in the Democratic column of the general election ballot.

In the 3rd district, Walsh County, the Frazier majority was 17, which indicates a good chance to elect independent house members because of independent gains, that is if the Democrats and Republicans work together but there is no chance if they go it separately because the Democratic vote in this district was 957.

In the following counties there might be a fair chance to elect independent members for the legislature on account of the increase in the Independent vote, but if the democratic vote is withdrawn so that it will be necessary to have an increase large enough to not only make up for the Nonpartisan majority last fall but for the withdrawal of the democratic votes, then the election of Independents is very questionable.

In Griggs and Steele Counties, 16th district, the Nonpartisan majority was only 313. The democratic vote was 337. In Ransom County the Nonpartisan majority was 66, the democratic vote 802. In LaMoure County the Nonpartisan majority was 193, the democratic vote 643.

These are plain samples of the conditions that exist in enough legislative districts to make the questions of Independent or Nonpartisan control of the legislature almost entirely dependent on whether or not the Democrats, Republicans and Independent work together from now until the vote is counted in the general election.

The fact that practically 10% of the voters of the state deliberately passed by the name of the Presidential candidates on the ballot without making a mark after any of them in spite of an intense National campaign, leaves no doubt but what there are in North Dakota a large number of voters who are so seriously concerned about state affairs that they will not only enter wholeheartedly into most any kind of joint working agreement that may be made between the Republicans and Democratic leaders, but who will at the first opportunity punish severely at the polls everyone who asks them to sacrifice or even sidetrack the interest of the state and its people for the benefit of any political machine or manipulators that may seek prestige only to use it as a political pork barrel dipper.

In the light of the foregoing facts, we, members of the State Committee of the Independent Voters' Association, being an organization composed of Republicans and Democrats, whose primary concern is that of promoting and protecting the welfare of the state and its people against political grafting and bartering at the expense of the taxpayers of the state, feel that it is our duty to ask the Real Republicans and Democratic State Central Committees to join with us in making up a joint working committee upon whom shall be placed the responsibility and duty of finding or developing a mutual working basis with reference to state affairs for all Independent Republicans and Democrats and that such joint Committee shall consist of forty-five members as follows: seven women and eight men appointed by the heads of each of the Republican, Democratic and the Independent Voters' Association State Committees. Further that the representatives of the respective bodies be endowed with power to bind their respective bodies to carry out any decision arrived at by such Joint Committee by a vote of not less than a majority of the committee in person or by proxy.

We further beg to recommend that there be no nominating or endorsing conventions held or decided upon at this time, but that to decide the question whether or not to have them and when and where to have them if they be deemed wise, be considered as one of the duties and powers of the proposed Joint Committee.

"But Tanlac changed things right about for me. My stomach never troubles me now, the rheumatism and pains in my back are gone and I have gained ten pounds. I can hardly find words to express my gratitude to Tanlac."

ST. LOUIS TO SUPPORT N. D. MOVE

Interested in Everything That Will Aid in Increasing Transportation by Water

PAPERS PLAY NEGLECT

Think It About Time The Mississippi Valley Asserted Itself

St. Louis papers will support any movement that North Dakota may make to unify the reclamation and irrigation program of the great central empire between the Alleghenies and the Rockies. While its interest is in navigation, St. Louis is just below the junction of what its papers call the "Mississippi-Missouri" and its interest is in everything that will aid in increasing transportation upon its waters or will prevent destruction from them.

"The Government's neglect of the river," says the St. Louis Post Dispatch in discussing the recent annual report of the government engineers, "its failure to appreciate the river's value and to provide for its development and upkeep, is an exasperating, inexcusable record. Next to sheer neglect the parsimony it has practiced and is practicing, is as Gen. Beach (engineer in charge) says is 'false economy.' At a time when curtailment of expenditures is imperative, reductions in river appropriations may speciously be advocated, but a Congress familiar with the river conditions and the potential value of the river could not be deceived by such sophistry."

"Congress should acquaint itself with the nation's and first of all, with the Mississippi, incomparably the world's greatest river in point of possible service. Surely Congress should no longer pursue a policy which, as regards private property, would not be tolerated by any community."

The Star Complains

The St. Louis Star adds to the complaint against the treatment of the Mississippi by quoting that $40,000,000 is being appropriated at this season the greater part of this being for the improvement of New York harbor, the Ohio river below Pittsburgh and the Tennessee at Muscle Shoals. For the Mississippi $6,000,000 is allowed.

"It is about time that the Mississippi Valley asserted itself and demanded a just share of the moneys spent for river and harbor improvements," continues the Star. "The $6,000,000 that congress proposes to give this year is a pitifully inadequate sum, even in view of the straightened circumstances of the public funds."

SEES BUILDING GAINS IN N. D.

P. C. Remington, of City National, Thinks it Will Gain Momentum

In commenting with regard to the predicted "building boom," P. C. Remington, president of the City National Bank, said this week: "Building seems to be considerably stimulated in this section and should gain momentum as the summer progresses on condition that the present indications in some quarters of higher prices for building materials is curbed."

"Low material costs will encourage building while any tendency to increase prices will have an opposite effect."

"A good many people who have in mind erecting new homes, new barns, garages and other buildings will continue to postpone if there is any increase in the price of materials generally."

"It is also to be hoped that any move to inflate retail prices will be discouraged. The so-called 'buyers' strike' finally being broken and goods are moving better at retail. It would be a serious mistake to do anything to prices which would interfere with better retail business."

"Financial interests are co-operating through lower interest rates and there is no reason why these rates should not remain low if manufacturing, distributing, retailing and other interests will continue to work together toward general business improvement."

"Prospects for good crops continue favorable and the present promise of better prices for agricultural products justifies our farmers in being more optimistic. We all acknowledge that the farmer has had the worst of it for too long a time and will not begrudge him any opportunity to better himself."

DID HIM MORE GOOD.

Many men and women suffer from backache, rheumatic pains, stiff joints, sore muscles and other results of kidney trouble because they neglected the first warning symptoms. Foley Kidney Pills aid the kidneys to throw out poisonous waste matter that causes pain and misery. Stephen Lewis, Eldridge, Minn., writes: "I had kidney trouble ten years. I don't have any pain like I had before I took them."

1907 ARE KILLED IN A YEAR

By NEA Service
New York, May 30.—Cross crossings cautiously!

That is the slogan adopted for the Careful Crossing Campaign, which begins June 1 and ends September 30. During that period the American Railway Association wants to educate the public to think and act SAFELY FIRST. Backing the campaign are the United States Automobile Chamber of Commerce, the National Highway Traffic Association, the National Safety Council, and numerous other organizations.

Tremendous increases in the number of fatal accidents at railroad crossings, in most of which automobiles were involved, brought about the campaign of education.

Accidents Increase

Since 1890, statisticians of the American Railway Association point out, the population of the country has increased 68 per cent, while crossing accidents have increased 345 per cent in fatalities and 652 per cent in injuries!

The United States Bureau of Standards has not yet announced the figures for 1921. But in 1920 automobiles were involved in 76 per cent of all crossing accidents. Persons killed (death resulting in 24 hours) totaled 1791, while 5077 were injured, 116 of the latter dying subsequently.

Here are the figures for automobile accidents at crossings:

	Accidents	Killed	Injured
1918	2270	1131	3109
1919	2571	1232	3558
1920	3012	1273	3977

Railroads are concentrating on public education because they declare total elimination of crossings is impossible.

Preventive Work Costly

There are 251,939 highway crossings in the country. Of this number only 399 were eliminated in one year. Each elimination cost $50,000, making the cost of eliminating all crossings $12,600,000,000.

The association pledges co-operation by the railroads in keeping crossings in good condition for travel, giving reasonable notice of the existence of crossings, and seeing to it that flagmen to their full duty in warning of the approach of trains.

The value of safety first campaigns is shown, railroad officials say, by the reduction in deaths from accident among employees from 4354 in 1907 to 2578 in 1920.

Safety engineers urge automobilists to form the habit of shifting gears in low speed at all crossings. This practice causes drivers instinctively to pause at crossings, and also reduces to a minimum the risk of stalling on the tracks.

FLIP OF COIN DECIDES CASE?

Stanley, N. D., May 30.—Flipping a coin is a new way, or rather a revived method, for a jury to employ in arriving at a verdict.

Rumors have been wafted upon the air here that the jury hearing the case of John Doctor in justice court stood 6 for conviction and 6 for acquittal, the twelve men then agreeing to abide by the turn of fate.

"Heads he's innocent; tails he's guilty," said the man with the coin and the defendant soon found it necessary to pay a fine and costs.

JAMESTOWN TO MAKE FIGHT TO LOWER RATES

Alleges City Is Discriminated Against in Matter of Freight Rates

Jamestown, N. D., May 30.—Formal complaint against the freight rate discrimination against Jamestown and which favors the Twin Cities, Moorhead, Minn., Aberdeen, S. D., Fargo, N. D. and other points with which Jamestown competes, has been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission, jointly by the Chambers of Commerce of Jamestown and Valley City.

Logically the city of Jamestown should be the distributing point for a very large portion of the territory served by the Northern Pacific railway and likewise Valley City should be able to assume the same position to a smaller territory of the Northern Pacific railway, and a substantial portion of that part of the state served by the Soo Line railway but due to the freight rates which apply to Jamestown and Valley City, other points less favorably located are able to reach the same territory at a much lower freight rate.

Taken Up With Railroads.

The matter was first taken up at conference with representatives of the railroads concerned about two years ago and later informally with members of the interstate commerce commission. The filing of the formal complaint was delayed for more than a month at the request of Fargo, the business men of that city having arranged for a conference with representatives of the railroads on the entire matter of freight rates from the Twin Cities and farther east. The Jamestown-Valley City case is concerned with changing or readjusting the rates from St. Paul, Minneapolis and Detroit, no complaint having been filed as to rates farther west.

How the Present Rates Work.

The complaint is based on "carload rates in, plus less car load rates-out." In other words, it is shown that Fargo is able to ship goods into that city from the east in carload lots, and reship to towns in what should normally be Jamestown or Valley City territory at the higher less carload rates, cheaper than the same goods can be shipped through Jamestown. This is in direct opposition to the theory upon which all railroad rates are based—that the length of haul lessens the rate per mile and that carload rates are less than less car load rates.

The fifth class carload rate, the one most commonly used, from St. Paul to Fargo, a distance of 240 miles, is 34-1/2 cents, while the rate from St. Paul to Jamestown, a distance of 334 miles, is 57-1/2 cents.

There is not a single town in the state which cannot be reached cheaper under this by Fargo than it can be reached by Jamestown.

TRAVELING MAN IS HELD UP ON THE RED TRAIL

Dickinson, May 30.—To be held up at the point of an ugly six shooter, robbed of $85 in cash, forced to stand by and see his new Hupmobile stripped of several extra castings, and tool kits, then bound in the back seat and sent plunging off the grade in his own car, was the experience of J. P. Kaiser, Butte traveling man, when he was held up by three masked men at a point on the Red trail five miles east of Dickinson. The yeggs then made their escape and up to the present time no trace of them has been found.

Kaiser was returning to Dickinson from a trip to Taylor when a big Case car drove up to the side of the road and swung him down. The three men overpowered him, rifled his pockets, stripped his car, bound him to the seat, started the engine and threw the machine in gear. The car kept the road for a short distance then plunged into the ditch, breaking one wheel and badly smashing the radiator, Kaiser was unhurt but was forced to remain in this predicament until early the following morning when a farmer released him. He then came to Dickinson and reported to the police.

Because of the darkness, Kaiser was unable to give a description of his assailants.

Officials over the Slope have been notified to be on the lookout for suspicious characters. It is believed, however, that the yeggs were traveling east and had been implicated in similar holdups in Montana.

LEGISLATION IN CANADA TO CUT RUM TRADE

Will be More Difficult to Get Booze for Importation to United States

ENFORCEMENT QUESTION

Minot, N. D., May 30.—Provincial legislation which becomes effective in Saskatchewan June 1, promises to add to the hazards of rum runners who have been engaged in quenching the thirst of Americans from the border as far south as Omaha, Neb. On that date the whiskey distributing houses which have been scattered along the North Dakota line in Saskatchewan will be a thing of the past, and liquor thereafter can legally be held for sale only at three points in the entire province—Regina, Saskatoon and Moose Jaw.

Provincial Law

At the same time a provincial law becomes operative which excludes automobiles as "common carriers." It is this law that strikes the hardest blow at the export business of Canada, for after June 1, no automobile can legally haul liquor from any warehouse to the American line. In the past little trouble was experienced on the north side of the line, the only conflict with the law being the dodging of a government export tax. The work of exporting liquor from Canada, has not, according to general opinion, been discouraged to any great extent. Stories of trucks bringing liquor loads to the American line where the contraband was picked up by American runners, have not been uncommon.

Millions of dollars worth of liquor has been sold by 10 houses located at Estevan, Balfout, Glen Ewen, Oxbow, Carle Vale and Carnduff. The tough element that was attracted to these points by the liquor houses developed strong opposition, with the result that a provincial law was passed that made illegal the location of wholesale houses in towns of less than 6,000 population. At this time houses are operating at Carnduff, Oxbow, Balfout and Estevan, the others having retired on account of local opposition.

Arrangements Unknown

What arrangements will be made to haul liquor after June 1 from Regina, Moose Jaw and Saskatoon, has not been developed. One thing appears certain, that with the additional chances that will be required, coupled with the added mileage, that the price of recognized brands will take another jump skyward.

According to information in Minot, practically all of the liquor in Saskatchewan is now controlled by the Yorktown houses which are dominated by J. C. Brauffman.

"Just how strictly the Canadian mounted police will enforce the law which excludes the automobile as a common carrier, is a matter that prohibition officials on this side of the line are interested in knowing. If that law is literally enforced it is believed the amount of liquor that is brought across the line into North Dakota will be greatly reduced."

ANNEXATION RIGHT UPHELD

The supreme court has upheld the constitutionality of the annexation law for cities in a decision in the case of P. S. Waslien and other taxpayers against the city of Hillsboro. The case was decided favorably to the city.

An injunction was sought by the citizens following action of the city in 1920 in annexing certain territory over the protest of some property owners. The property owners sought an injunction from Judge Cole. Their petition was dismissed and they appealed to the supreme court.

The supreme court, in a decision written by Justice Bronson, holds that the annexation law involved is not subject to the constitutional objection that it is not uniform in its operation, holds that it is no special legislation and does not deprive the people concerned of any constitutional right of local self-government.

After a long continued experiment, at including one-fourth part of white pine sawdust, cows showed no change in their weight or milk production.

Flood Makes Canadian City a New World Venice

When floodwaters of the Assiniboine River invaded Brandon, Manitoba, the city's 25,000 people had to take to the upper stories. They still "trod" there, depending on rafts and boats for their food supply. In some streets the water is eight and ten feet deep.

The hostesses, Mrs. Earl Forbes and Mrs. W. W. McNally had the house beautifully decorated in pink and white. Streamers of pink and white reached from the windows of the room to the center of the table from which was suspended a pink and white bell that concealed some of the smaller gifts.

Music, games, and charades were the chief amusements for the evening. Mrs. Charles Faust gave a pleasing reading.

A bridal party in which Mrs. Ed. Olson made a dapper bridegroom and Mrs. Fred McCall had a charming bride aroused much glee. Mrs. Carl Seichert acted the part of the clergyman.

As Baby Grows Older Keep Watch on His Food

"I'VE EATEN PROPER FOODS AND I'M FEELING FINE!"

Mrs. Max West
Late of the United States Children's Bureau

Although illness of every sort is far more serious to the younger babies, older babies do suffer from serious attacks of diarrhea, especially in summer. For the most part, these result from mistakes in feeding at about the weaning period. As the child begins to eat solid foods, after an exclusive milk diet, mothers are very prone to hasten matters too fast.

They like to have the baby come to the table, and eat what the family has. In this way, a baby often is given foods which are not suited to his digestion, and those which are really harmful to him. Probably some of the frequent sources of digestive upsets in these older children are the summer fruits, either those which are over-ripe or under-ripe.

But whatever the cause, the mother should be on her guard, if the baby begins to fret and show signs of indigestion.

The treatment of a severe case of diarrhea with vomiting and fever should always be directed by a physician if one can be had. In the meantime, castor oil may be given. Give two teaspoonfuls in lemonade or orange juice.

Never give an offending medicine in milk, or any common food, lest the child may thus be turned against it.

After the child is well, he should be kept quiet, and be given light foods for some time. It is very easy to induce a second attack of diarrhea in a child who has had one, and even though he demands all sorts of things, the wise mother will stick to milk, broths, thin gruels and the like for at least two weeks after an attack, especially if the weather is hot.

He should have a cool room, and a quiet life and should be kept in bed at least for some days. These illnesses are weakening, and the little patient needs the best possible opportunity to regain his full strength after going through such an ordeal.

Diarrhea can easily be prevented. Certainly in very many cases. If every mother would keep a set of rules for proper feeding at hand, using those for each age, and would add to this care, much attention to keeping the baby cool, quiet and supplied with fresh air, day and night, she would have little to fear, even if her baby is artificially fed. For summer food, certified milk is one of her greatest safeguards.

Other to suit the wearer better than any other type and is most decorative.

BRIDE'S BOUQUET
For the bride's bouquet the shower of blossoms and ribbons is still the favorite, but there is a tendency to use more colors than formerly.

FOR BRIDESMAID
Since yellow is such a popular color for spring it is not surprising that many bridesmaids are having costumes of yellow crepe de chine and georgette crepe.

SATIN LINEN
Lingerie for the bride is frequently of white satin, trimmed with very fine lace and embroidery.

HOSIERY
Bridal hosiery is most beautiful with heavy embroidery over the insteps, or inserts of the most delicate, cobwebby lace.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

TIME SAVER
Keep a crocheted hook in the sewing basket, then when the end of a drawing or tape disappears within its casing it can easily be drawn out with the hook.

LAUNDERING PONGEE
Following laundering, pongee is often spotted and unsightly. This is the result of ironing the fabric while it is damp. Pongee, if it is to look its loveliest, should be dry before being ironed.

TEN NURSES OF HOSPITAL GIVEN THEIR DIPLOMAS

Impressive Exercises Mark Graduation of Students of Bismarck Hospital School

TWO ADDRESS NURSES

The ten graduating nurses of the Bismarck hospital training school were walled in by flowers—baskets of pink tea roses, Oregon roses, pink and white carnations, and lilacs—at the city auditorium yesterday evening at 8 o'clock when Judge A. M. Christianson and Bishop G. Helmmler delivered addresses to the members of the graduating class.

All the decorations were red and white, the class colors. In the center of the stage appeared the class motto "Don't Dodge Difficulties, Meet Them, Greet Them, and Beat Them." Pillars of red and white were erected on either side of this. At the front of the stage appeared a lattice work gate worked out in the class colors as representative of the gate before the Bismarck hospital.

Rev. C. F. Strutz made an impressive invocation. Frank Gale and Miss Bessie Williams sang their hymns. Mrs. John Hughes gave several charming piano solos. A vocal group of Great Bend, president of the hospital, presented the diplomas. Rev. W. C. Menges of Grand Forks, assisted with the exercises and pronounced the benediction. McDonald's orchestra furnished music.

Opportunities of Nurses.
The graduates were: Misses Mabel Pendray, Ruth Anderson, Luella Bremner, Edna Stillman, Marie Trapp, Esther Brockmuller, Alice Lueck, Charlette Colt, Ella Doering and Emma Brunas.

Judge Christianson gave a very impressive address on the opportunities offered in the profession of nursing. He declared that in no work was there a greater chance for serving mankind. "You will come into contact with the sorrows of the world."

"You will also witness the greatest joys in life when you have saved a precious life by the intelligence of your trained brain and the skill of your hands," asserted the judge near the conclusion of his address.

"Some of the nurses whom I see here tonight will become veritable angels of light. Their lives will be followed by the blessings of hundreds of their patients. Others may become trained guides in their own homes, that everywhere they go, I feel sure that they will bring happiness, alleviate pain and suffering, and keep their profession on the same high plane where it stands today," said Judge Christianson.

DESSERTS
Sister Mary suggests some That Are Easy to Make

(Sister Mary's Kitchen)
The last question, "what shall we have for dessert?" is always the worst. The answer, however, is always the same. Considered. It is always proper to serve with fish or fat meats either fresh or stewed fruit may be used.

But if a fruit dessert is chosen the salad should not be of fruit nor should a fruit cup be served at the beginning of the meal. A rich, heavy dessert served with a delicate cake is the most satisfactory finish for a long-course dinner.

These rules are for every-day desserts that will supply the average dinner with the needed sweet.

Stewed Figs
One pound figs, 3/4 cup sugar, juice 1 lemon, 2 cups water. Choose the whole figs for stewing. Wash well through several waters. Bring the water to the boiling point and add washed figs.

Simmer over a slow fire closely covered for half an hour. Add sugar and lemon juice and simmer uncovered for an hour. Let cool in the syrup. Serve cold with boiled custard or whipped cream.

Rhubarb and Prune Pie
Three cups diced rhubarb, 11 prunes, 2 eggs, 1 3/4 cups sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons sugar. Wash prunes and soak in cold water to cover for an hour. Put prunes, water and rhubarb in a stew pan and cook until prunes are tender. Skim prunes from mixture and remove stones. Chop prune pulp and return to rhubarb.

Add sugar, salt and the yolks of the eggs slightly beaten. Stir and cook over a slow fire till mixture thickens. Turn into a baked pie shell. Cover with the whites of the eggs beaten till stiff and dry with four tablespoons sugar and put in a hot oven for eight minutes to brown.

Dried Apricot Jelly
One cup dried apricots, 1 cup sugar, 1 lemon, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 1-4 cup cold water, 1-2 cups boiling water. Wash apricots through several waters. Let stand in cold water for four hours, changing the water every half hour. Drain and pour boiling water over fruit. Let stand five minutes and drain. Put in a stew pan with boiling water to cover and simmer till tender.

It will take about two hours. Rub through a sieve and measure. Add enough boiling water to make three cups. Add sugar, salt and apricot mixture. Add juice of lemon and stir in the remaining cold water and become firm. Serve with whipped cream or boiled custard.

Boiled Custard for Pudding Sauce
Two cups milk, 5 tablespoons sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 3 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons heavy cream. Scald milk in double boiler. Mix sugar and salt with yolks of eggs. Pour scalded milk on egg mixture, stirring constantly to dissolve sugar. Return to double boiler and cook

"WRAP-AROUND" SKIRT IS NEW

Is the absorbing question of what is or not fashionable keeping you awake at night?

Just fold the drapery of your skirt about you and you may lie down to pleasant dreams. Ad a fringed hem and you will be as fashionable as it's good for anyone's pride to be.

The formula is simple. Just wrap it around, ravel out the bottom or slash it into fringe, and button it up the front. In case the material doesn't lend itself to raveling the desirable effect may be obtained by sewing matching fringe around the bottom.

The "wrap-around" skirt is made of homespun, ratine, tweed, flannel, or one of the new sport silks—crepe knit or silk homespun. As to colors you have full paint-box range.

over hot water till custard coats the spoon. Stir in the cream and cook one minute longer. Remove from hot water and put in a pan of cold water to cool quickly. When cool add vanilla. (Copyright, 1922, NEA Service)

OLD INDIAN FIGHTER DIES

Was With General Custer's Command at Old Ft. Lincoln

Glendive, Mont., May 30.—Thomas Kean, 73, who filed a homestead on the present site of Glendive in 1872, when as a soldier he was with the United States detachment which accompanied the Northern Pacific original western survey, died Friday after a year's illness.

Kean saw the west in the making and had an interesting career. Born in Tonawanda, N. Y., he refused to take an interest in his father's cooperage factory and ran away from home when 16 years old, enlisting as a bugler in 1864 in Co. B, Sixth cavalry, and later re-enlisted in Co. C, 17th infantry, and was discharged at Fort Leavenworth, Dakota territory, in 1876.

He was with the Crittenden commission, who, in behalf of farmers, offered $7,000 an inch of each inch of rainfall in excess of 3.54 the normal for May and June, to Rainmaker Hatfield, are happy to think he refused their sporting proposition which called for no payments at all unless the 3.54 inch average was reached. So far in May the Slope county districts have averaged over 3 inches of rainfall and indications are that the precipitation will reach over 5 inches before the close of June.

STRAIGHTEN THAT BACK

No use to suffer from that tired, dead ache in your back, that lameness, those distressing urinary disorders. Bismarck people have found how to get relief. Follow this Bismarck resident's example.

Mrs. J. B. Saylor, 309 Mandan Ave., says: "From the experience I have had with Doan's Kidney Pills I can safely recommend them for disordered kidneys. I had an attack some time ago and my eyes would smart and my back ached and bothered me a great deal. My kidneys didn't act regularly, either. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and they were not long in relieving my trouble. I recommend them willingly."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Saylor had. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

GERMANY REPLY SATISFACTORY

Paris, May 30.—(By the A. P.)—The German reply to the reparations commission demand says that the German government will undertake on the hypothesis that it be given aid through a foreign loan in suitable time, to maintain its paper circulation within the limits reached March 30 and in general, with the conditions fixed by the commission for a partial moratorium.

The reply is generally regarded as satisfactory with the exception of a few immaterial provisions the German text does not make compliance conditional on the foreign loan as the French translation does.

During the summer of 1876 he was steward for the officers club at Fort Lincoln five miles south of Bismarck, when the post was in charge of General George Custer. He was with Douglas & Smith at Standing Rock and later cooked at the great Dalmatian farm near Casselton. Although most of his service in the United States forces was in Dakota and Montana, he was with the Sixth cavalry in Texas for a time during the wild days of 1867-68.

Following discharge from the service he located in Glendive in 1880, entering the real estate business, serving as public administrator, deputy sheriff and justice of the peace. He was president of the Glendive State bank. His wife was Miss Isola Jordan of Glendive, and she and two sons and two daughters survive.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

MEMORIAL DAY

The deep significance of Memorial Day is felt this year not only by millions of American people but by millions of Europeans, Canadians, Australians, and others who join us in strewing the graves of soldier dead with flowers.

North Dakota as well as the other states sent the finest of her young men to serve on land and on sea. Many have returned to their former occupations, but some found resting places while on the shell shot fields. It is to the memory of these loved sons that we assemble in memoriam today.

The beautiful custom of placing garlands upon the graves of our honored dead had its origin with the women of the South during the tragic days of the Civil War. It was one of those symbolic acts which touched the heart of the American nation and took root. By its founders it was regarded as a lay All Soul's Day dedicated to the consecration of the glorified dead.

Today, our recent allies from all parts of the globe unite with us in wreathing the graves of their soldiers. The poppy of Flanders' fields signifies the same deep thoughts in the hearts of the Frenchmen, the Englishmen, the Belgians, and the Americans.

Although our tribute of recollection is deeply tender in regard to the memory of our youngest heroes, yet it extends far back to days of '76, of '61, and of '98 when the names of eternal liberty and union were as sacred to our boys as it is to our memory lies the greatest monument to our soldiers.

A COMMON MISTAKE

In designating certain candidates as Tribune candidates, the Mandan Pioneer falls into a mistake common to some newspapers which believe they are especially anointed to lead the state out of political bondage.

The Tribune is not being run in the interests of any candidate. It proposes to place before its readers in tolerant manner the platforms of all candidates. That is a duty a newspaper owes to its readers.

There is too much prevalence of the idea that newspapers are conducted primarily to boost politicians into office. That seems to be the conception of the contemporary across the Big Muddy. Probably its political policies are boiler plated, not so with the Tribune.

Norton, Lauder and as many others as desired could have entered the senatorial race without arousing the ire of The Tribune. The primary law works in a mysterious way, its wonders to perform.

When certain politicians in this state who seem to be "straining" themselves to put politics on "a high moral plane" so high indeed that neutrality in politics will be regarded the same as disloyalty in time of war, have courage enough to urge the abolition of the primary law and take an honest stand on state socialism, there may be a nearer approach to the consistency the Mandan Pioneer prays for in others.

The Tribune is not concerned as a newspaper with the political fortunes of any politician or candidate. It would like to see an emphatic indictment of state socialism and a triumph of Republican principles, June 28. But under the primary law, there is nothing sure but death and taxes—so why worry. The people will get in the final analysis just the kind of government their indifference allows or their alertness to the issues dictates.

All the newspapers of the state need or can do is to put the issues fairly before their readers—they are the sole judges. The Mandan Pioneer probably would like to mark all the ballots in their territory—but such is hardly possible under our "representative form" of government.

So let us all be content if we carry the truth to the people—that is the real function of a newspaper anyway.

NO. 174465

Forty-six years ago this May, Alexander Graham Bell had his telephone patent, No. 174465, only two months and was talking himself blue in the face, trying to interest capital in his "toy."

Today youngsters no taller than a yardstick are successfully making wireless telephone outfits.

This rapid advance has come in 46 years. We advance with lightning speed in our time. Hero of Alexandria, ancient mathematician, invented his aeolipile or first steam engine about the year 100. Yet it was not until 1774 that Watt succeeded in perfecting Hero's discovery to the useful stage.

SERVICE ABOVE SELF EXEMPLIFIED

Those who witnessed Hampden's charming interpretation of "The Servant in The House" saw visualized the power of the following verse from the greatest Book of literature: "And whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be servant of all." Service above self was never better exemplified by any artist on the stage. A great stage homily was this play, seen alas by too few in this city.

COINCIDENCE

Bell applied for a patent on his telephone February 14, 1876. The same day, Prof. Elisha Gray rushed into the patent office with almost identically the same device.

After years of litigation, the national Supreme Court decided in favor of Bell.

Bell got to the Patent Office a few hours ahead of Gray. The short delay cost Gray what patent attorneys call "the most valuable single patent ever granted."

Being punctual pays. Delay usually means absolute failure, in the long run.

STRAP-HANGERS

The overhead trolley electric street car has its thirty-fourth birthday. Robert I. Todd, president of the American Electric Railway Association, orates about the industry.

He finds that the number of passengers carried by trolley companies dropped off from 7,606,190,270 in 1920 to 7,144,332,920 in 1921. Meaning, that nearly half a billion times last year someone was hard-up enough to decide to use his legs instead of paying fare.

Walking, however, is unexcelled for the health. Everything has its good side—even hard times.

SUCCESS

How long to raise to the top of the ladder? Harvard Business College claims its graduates usually reach an executive desk in six months.

The average successful business man will look back and recall that it took him from 6 to 12 years to become an executive after leaving high school and striking out for himself.

Young men, now graduating and ready to begin the battle of life, can make a short-cut to success by realizing that this is an age of specialization, with victory quickest to the man who trains for a definite goal. Drifters usually fail.

LASTING

Genghis Kahn's followers swooped down on Baghdad, then the world's greatest city. They beheaded 800,000 of its several millions of inhabitants.

Mohammed, in the city of Samarkand, saw the Chinese warriors approaching. He fled, saying: "The Mongols are so many that they could fill the moat around this city with their horsewhips."

Today Genghis Khan and his successors are forgotten, but 230,000,000 people are Mohammedans. Religion is the most powerful force among humans.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

MEMORIAL DAY

There will be a good deal said about our war purpose on this Memorial Day, and a good deal left unsaid. Orators will tell a thousand audiences that our dead have not died in vain, but will be careful not to undertake proof of their statement. It is too complicated just now for most of us to figure it out in words of one syllable. Probably the orators will do as well not to undertake complete demonstration of just why we are confident that our sacrifice was right and by precisely what processes it is to triumph.

It was many, many years after the Man of Galilee made his sacrifice on the cross before any appreciable number of humans knew that it had not been made in vain. Today hundreds of millions know and can say why. Already we know that part of our war gift of blood has won a return in bettering mankind, and we can abide with faith in the reasonable certainty that the full reward is coming, and coming with a speed unknown to earlier ages of progress.

The Nation's complete tribute to its hero dead will be made this year with good reason to hope that even this generation shall see the entire fulfillment of the faith in which they fell.—Stars and Stripes.

TRUE NONPARTISANS. BLESSING ONE AND ALL

If breaking one commandment puts one in the same class with the man who breaks all ten and keeps them "broke," then how many of us are doomed to "eternal damnation" on account of lost collar-buttons and tagless shoestrings! There's hope ahead however for those who have not yet stepped over the brink for a North Dakota man has just patented a shoestring tag which positively cannot come off! Step on them and they take a firmer grip on the string; the more you pull the tighter they stick. Our shoes will soon all be equipped with them, Townley in your right hand and Lemke in the left, and glory be, what a relief to those who must sit and listen to confessions! Now for a collar-button that won't roll!—New Salem Journal.

IN MEMORY OF THE YESTERYEARS!

(By Hal Cochran.)
Three generations of women today,
All with a single thought,
Are paying respect to the memory
Of those who in wars have fought.

Grandmother, mother and daughter, too,
Are shedding a memory tear;
They may smile for the peace that has come anew,
Yet they sob for the yester-year.

The memories stay, though the years roll on,
And the feelings of reverence increase
For grandfather, father and son, who fought
That our country might live in Peace.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

Wink, the dream-fairy from Snooze-land town on the Moon, slung three little poppy-leaf bags over his shoulder and slid down a bright moon-beam to the earth.

It was a glorious night, a night so clear and lovely you could see the colors of the flowers in the garden. There were faint stirrings and rustlings everywhere—night sounds, people call them. Some say it's the sleepy birds, some say it's the tiny insects, and some say it's the wind. But it's really the fairies that come from the moon.

Over in the forest the trees rustled and swished softly. That was the tree-fairies who hop from branch to branch looking out for the birds, their babies and nests.

Up in the air was the faintest hum—the wings of the Cloud Fairies. Here and there one could hear a faint chirp—the Chimney Fairies on the chimney-tops calling to one another.

And there! That sounded like a happy laugh. One of the happy Dream Fairies, of which Wink was one.

Wink slid down his moon-beam to the roof of Tommy Brown's house and climbed up to the top of the chimney. He expected to find Black Cap there. Black Cap said he'd be sure to see that none of Eena Meena's bad fairies with dreadful dreams could get down first.

But Black Cap was not there! It was the first time the little Chimney Fairy had failed him.

"Oh well," said Wink, "I'll go down to Tommy's room anyway. I do want Tommy to have this nice dream about a pony on his birthday. And I want to put an idea into his daddy's head. I've a dream for him too!"

AT MORNING

(Florence Berner.)

The robin with his cheery lay,
Will wake me at the break of day;
The blue bird in the peach tree swings,
And to his God a hymnal sings,
Then soon bird voices fill the air,
And blend their music rich and rare.

The sun from out his hidden sleep,
Above the hill begins to peep;
While myriads of twinkling eyes,
Grow fat and fainter in the skies;
Then as the hilltops turn to gold,
The moon grows pale and dim and cold.

The dew that fell thruout the night,
Now sparkles in the morning light;
And gleaming these it seems to me,
Like candles on a Christmas tree;
Then seemingly with happy shout,
The sunbeams blow the candles out.

TODAY'S WORD

Today's word is DISSONANCE.
It's pronounced—dis-o-nans, with accent on the first syllable.

It means—a mingling of discordant sounds, lack of agreement.

It comes from Latin "dissonantia," disagreement in sound, discord; which, in turn, comes from "dis," a prefix denoting separation or parting from, reversal, undoing, negation, and "sonare," to sound.

It's used like this—"Father Odenbach, director of St. Ignatius College observatory, describes a method, for the benefit of radio experimenters, of

A THOUGHT

Thou wilt show me the path of life; in Thy presence there is fullness of joy; at Thy right hand there are pleasures forevermore.—Psalm 16.11.

One step beyond life's work-day things,
One more beat of the soul's broad wings,
One deep sorrow sometimes brings
The spirit into that great vast
Where neither future is nor past;
None knoweth how he entered there,
But waking, finds his spirit where
He thought an angel could not soar.
And what he called false dreams before,
The very air about his door.

JUNE IS "MIND'S PLANTING TIME"

Asked why Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D., begins its school year in June when all others open in Fall, F. L. DECISION OF SUPREME COURT
From Grant County
Jacob Gunther, Plaintiff and Respondent, vs. George F. Baker, Defendant and Appellant.
Syllabus: Plaintiff leased land from the defendant. The lease contained a provision under which plaintiff might place improvements upon the land which he could remove at the termination of the lease or sell to the defendant at the cost of the materials used. Defendant sold the land to a third party who, in turn, sold to the plaintiff under contract between defendant and third party the latter was entitled to have a portion of all of the improvements made by the tenant, and when later purchased from the third party the value of the improvements entered into the consideration. It is held:
(1) On the defendant's admission that in the sale of the land to the third party he had agreed to pay for the house, certain fences, and a windmill at the price of the materials, plaintiff is entitled to an instructed verdict for the amount of the items not in dispute.
(2) Correspondence between the defendant and his agent is not privileged.
(3) A specific admission of fact upon which a liability may be predicated is admissible, though accompanied by an offer of compromise.
(4) The court's instructions to the jury are examined and held to be erroneous.
Appeal from the District Court of Grant County, Lemke, J.
Judgment Modified and Conditionally Affirmed.

There is little ground for disputing either the law or the essential facts. To state the case is to decide it. Held, that the judgment is clearly right and it is affirmed.
Appeal from the District Court of Mercer County; Hon. Thos. H. Pugh, Judge.
Affirmed. Opinion of the Court by Robinson, J. Bronson, J. and Birdzell, Ch. J. concur in the result. Grace and Christianson, JJ. concur specially.

MEMORIAL OF LINCOLN GIVEN TO THE NATION

addition to that which each standing alone possesses.
Site Selected
More than a dozen years ago Potomac Park, one of the most important units of Washington's great park system, and which lies along the Potomac River, was first suggested as the site for a memorial to Lincoln. The late John Hay, one of Lincoln's secretaries and biographers, and later Secretary of State of the United States, favored its selection. In expressing his approval, he wrote:
"As I understand it, the place of honor is on the main axis of the plan. Lincoln, of all Americans next to Washington, deserved this place of honor. He was of the immortals. You must not approach too close to the immortals. His monument should stand alone, remote from the common habitations of man, apart from the business and turmoil of the city, isolated, distinguished and serene. Of all the sites this one, near the Potomac, is most suited to the purpose."
By means of terraces the grounds around the site are raised until the floor of the memorial itself is 45 feet higher than the grade of Potomac Park. A circular terrace, 1,000 feet in diameter, first rises above the park. On its outer edge stand four concentric rows of trees, leaving a plateau in the center 755 feet in diameter. In the center of this plateau, surrounded by wide roadways and walks, rises an eminence supporting a rectangular stone terrace wall 14 feet high, 256 feet long and 186 feet wide. On this rectangular terrace rises the white marble memorial. All the foundations of the steps, terraces and memorial are built on concrete piling which extends down to solid rock.
Rising from this rectangular terrace three steps, each 8 feet high, form a platform measuring 204 feet in length and 134 feet in width. On this platform stand the 36 columns, symbolizing the Union, which enclose the memorial hall walls and support the upper portion of the building bearing the festoons representing the existing 48 states. This colonnade is 188 feet long and 118 feet wide, the columns being 44 feet high and 7

CUTTING
"Young man, can you tell me which barber it was that cut my hair the last time?"
Barber—I'm sorry, sir, but I've only worked here four months.

White Memorial Hall:
Within the colonnade stands the white memorial hall, measuring 156 feet in length and 84 feet in width. Inside the building, the central hall where the statue of Lincoln stands, is 60 feet wide, 70 feet long and 80 feet high, while the halls where the memorials of the speeches are placed are 37 feet long, 37 feet wide and 60 feet high, four Ionic columns separating each of these halls from the central hall. The colonnaded entrance to the memorial hall is 45 feet wide and 14 feet high.
To the eastward of the memorial, at the foot of the series of steps leading from the entrance and extending toward the Washington monument is a lagoon, or reflecting basin, 2,000 feet long and 480 feet wide. In its waters is reflected from one end the Lincoln Memorial and from the other end the Washington monument is pictured. It is from two to three feet deep, its floors of dark material, making the water as reflective as a mirror. Splendid elm trees line both sides of the reflecting basin.
The grounds surrounding the memorial slope up gently to the winding walk which encircles the entire structure. Rare specimens of boxwood, trees, nestling in the corners of the temple, are each nearly 100 years old and cost about $1,000 apiece. Each tree planted about the memorial is a selected specimen of great age.

135,000 SPECTATORS SEE 500-MILE RACE

JIMMY MURPHY GRABS LEAD IN ANNUAL CLASSIC

Twenty-Seven Cars, Pick of Three Nations, Get Away With Starter's Bomb

DEPALMA A FAVORITE

Veteran Driver of the Track Finds Responsible Note in The Great Crowd

Indianapolis, May 20.—With a roar from perfectly tuned motors 27 drivers, the pick of three nations, got away at 10 a. m. today in the start of the 500-mile automobile race at the Indianapolis speedway for prizes totalling $85,000. There was a record breaking crowd of 135,000 spectators cheering from the stands and in fields when the starting bomb was fired. The racers were paced the first lap by Barney Oldfield, a retired star of the racing world.

Jimmy Murphy, driving a special 8-cylinder car, grabbed the lead at the start plotting his car around the treacherous south turn at a speed that brought spectators to their feet. Leon Duray, driving his first speedway race, was second and Ralph DePalma, a favorite with the crowd, was trailing in third. The time for the first lap around the 2.12 was 1:34:04, an average of 91 miles an hour.

The drivers in the race are: Ira Vail, 1, Distell-Dusenbery special; Roscoe Scales, 2, Frontenac special; D. D. Baker, 3, Frontenac special; Leon Duray, 4, Frontenac special; Ralph Mulford, 5, Frontenac special; Arthur Klein, 6, Frontenac special; Peter C. Fazio, 7, Frontenac special; Tommy Milton, 8, Leach special; Frank Elliott, 9, Leach special; Joe Thomas, 10, Dusenbery special; Harry Hartz, 11, Dusenbery special; Harry Hartz, 12, Dusenbery special; Eddie Hearne, 13, Dusenbery special; Wilcox, 14, Peugeot special; Ralph DePalma, 15, Dusenbery special; Jack Courtney, 16, Fronty-Ford special; C. Corum, 24, Monroe special; Ora Haibe, 25, Dusenbery special; Frank C. Durand, 26, Durant special; Jimmy Murphy, 27, Murphy special.

Murphy continued his terrific pace at the 50-mile mark, being fully a half mile ahead of Leon Duray who was second. The time was 51:29:33, an average of 95.27 miles an hour, as compared with 92.63 miles an hour last year for the same distance.

Harry Hartz was third and Ralph DePalma was fourth. Howard Wilcox, of Indianapolis, was the first driver forced out of the race, valve trouble causing his withdrawal. Jules Ellingboe was the second to go out. He threw a rear wheel while speeding around the north turn and his car spun completely around, crashing into a protecting wall. Neither he nor his mechanism was injured.

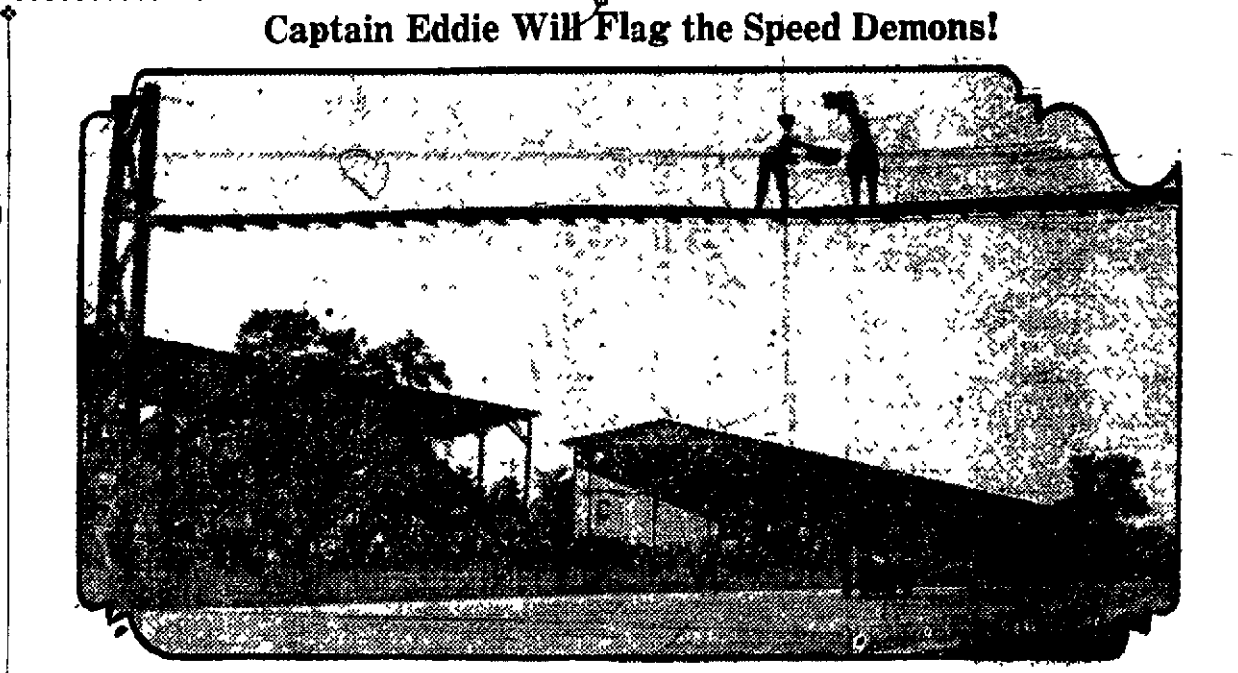

The list of prizes follows: First place, $20,000; second, $10,000; third, $5,000; fourth, $3,500; fifth, $3,000; sixth, $2,200; seventh, $1,800; eighth, $1,600; ninth, $1,400; tenth, $1,400. Lap prizes of $5 to the winner of each lap a total of $14,000. Prizes from auto and accessory firms, $25,000.

The first day will be devoted to practice shooting and the targets will not be registered. The first half of the state amateur championship at single and double targets and the first half of the North Dakota handicap will be shot on the second day and the last half of each event on the third day.

The American Trapshooting association, with which every registered club in the state is affiliated, has contributed $100 in trophies and $25 in cash to the tournament. In addition to these there will be a silver trophy, the gift of Governor R. A. Nestos, awarded to the winner of the all-round state championship, together with other prize money.

There will be $100 high average money on the 200 yard singles, divided 49.20-20-10. The same ratio will apply to awards in all events.

The 200 yard targets of the state amateur championship at singles will constitute the State Five Men Team championship race and the five high guns will constitute the team to represent the state in the zone tournament. The second five high guns will constitute the runners-up.

The annual business meeting will be held in connection with a banquet at the St. Charles hotel, which will be tournament headquarters, on Thursday evening, June 15, at 8 o'clock.

More than 100 nimrods are expected to come to Dickinson for the tournament and every effort will be made to see that they are royally entertained. E. L. Peterson is president of the state association and J. W. Sturgeon, secretary.

All information regarding the tournament may be secured upon application to Frank Ray, president of the Dickinson Town and Country club.

McCUMBER ASKED TO VIO-LATE LAW, SAY FRIENDS

securing the appointment, nomination or election of another person to any public or private position or employment, or to any position of honor, trust or emolument.

Focus Attention on Laws

Activities of political cliques, declare friends of the primary law, have served to focus attention on the primary laws of the state and the corrupt practices act. Since the league came into power every subterfuge known has been employed to check the operation of the law. There have been fusion arrangements, open deals for Democrats to vacate positions and vice versa. No concerted attempt has been made to repeal the primary law and whether any will be made is problematical. There seems to be a general dissatisfaction with its operation among the political leaders but none has had the temerity to advocate its repeal and the legal substitution for the voluntary action now being taken by groups within various parties to secure party action.

It is pointed out further that activities of the Committee of Forty-five and resolutions adopted at Jamestown for a fusion arrangement between various groups of different parties are aimed to circumvent the operation of the primary law.

Section 941 of the Corrupt Practices act of North Dakota reads:

"It shall be unlawful for any person to accept, receive or refrain from becoming a candidate for nomination or election, or by himself or in combination with any other person or persons to become a candidate for the purpose of DEFEATING the nomination or election of any person and not with a bona fide intent to obtain the office."

Agreement of Factions

In another column The Tribune publishes the agreement between certain political factions. Below is the agreement reached at Jamestown for an attempted distribution of political positions as between Republicans and Democrats which politicians urge in defiance of Section 941 of the Corrupt Practices Act.

The state has become so indifferent, however, to the letter of this act, say politicians, that only in so far as its provisions determine how an aspirant shall get on the ballot and other routine matters in connection with the election itself the primary laws are openly flaunted and secretly treated as a huge joke.

The Combination Report

J. D. Bacon, chairman of the committee to confer with the Democrats presented this report to the Jamestown convention:

"Your committee met last evening with the Democrats in accordance with the recommendations of the committee of 45, which you heard and was unanimously recommended here yesterday, and which provided that about one-third of the offices should be filled by Democratic candidates and two-thirds by the Republicans. After talking the matter over for some considerable length of time, the conference committee agreed that the Republican members were to report to their convention and the Democrats, that all of the independent incumbent state offices be retained and that we recommend to both conventions the co-operation of the independents along that line; that in the remaining offices the state auditor, the office of commissioner of insurance and two railroad commissioners be Republicans and should work with the Democrats along that line after the primaries. The Democratic independent members were to work with the Republicans along the line of electing their officials. We also recommend that in districts where it seems impossible for Republicans or Democrats to be elected to the legislature without co-operation, that as nearly as possible, all of the independent should work along the lines suggested by the officials in the same proportion, that is, two-thirds Republican and one-third Democrats. But at any rate, to work together so as to prevent the control of the next

RECOMMENDATIONS

"We recommend that this convention give its approval of such recommendations. The chairman seems to think that I have not made this clear. He did not understand whether we were to drop these nominations here or not. By all means not. We expect to nominate candidates for every office in this convention. That is the desire of your committee, but after the primaries, to work along this other line so that there are two Democrats for railroad commissioners and also for commissioner of insurance and state auditor."

No action in regard to alleged violations of the primary laws is contemplated. Whether the attorney general's department will act is not known. Attorney-General Johnson is in complete accord with the political deal engineered by the Committee of Forty-five. He himself is chairman of the Democratic State Central committee as well as a candidate for the supreme court.

CITY RESPONDS TO TRIBUTE TO SOLDIER DEAD

"What prompts this spirit of gratitude? While we have material advantages that might cause us to be thankful, it is not the material things that make us pause in reverence before those who have borne the brunt of our country's battles. Rather are we grateful for what our country has come to stand for. And the thought that is uppermost in our minds today is that it is only because of the splendid service of those we would honor, here that our country occupies a proud position of leadership in the world. She stands today as she has stood from the beginning for the principles of civil and religious liberty, for equality before the law. Here no man lives another's leave underneath the law. This means respect for the individual man, which, of itself, affords a good definition of democracy. Built upon this foundation our country has grown great beyond the dreams of its founders, in the freedom of the individual citizen, in the opportunity to develop his inherent talents, it surpasses any government previously established. Ever contending against this ideal in government is the autocratic principle which teaches that man's highest estate is reached when he occupies the niche selected for him by a self-constituted or hereditary superior.

"It is not by mere chance that we enjoy this priceless boon called liberty. It is ours only as a result of years of struggle. With it we are able to do much or little, depending upon our capacity for advancement and our willingness to make the efforts necessary to achieve large things. There is abundant proof that we are alive to our opportunities. We are awake to the diffusion of knowledge, to the advancement of science, to the broad general education and a wider adherence to the virtues that make for a God-fearing, a prosperous and a happy people. It is these facts that make us realize our indebtedness to and our dependence upon the heroes of the battles fought and won. They have been battles not only for national honor but for civilization itself.

What Civilization Owes Soldiers

"It may seem trite to say that the civilization of today owes all to the soldiers of yesterday; yet this is a truth written over and over again on the pages of history. History tells us of the battle that saved Athens as a center of the arts and sciences of the world, not to mention other great battles that have had their permanent effect upon the tide of civilization. But in our own country we can most readily observe the direct results of victories in the field.

"Without the Revolution and Yorktown there would have been no democratic republic under a written constitution of our own making. Without the cutting in twain of the Confederacy through the success of the Union army at Vicksburg and such decisive victories as that of Meade at Gettysburg, we would not have had a nation sufficiently powerful and so thoroughly schooled in the noble spirit of altruism as to have freed the yoke of oppression from our weak and unhappy neighbors of '98 and '99. Much less could we have grown to the mighty stature of a nation more than a hundred million strong that could rise and bid defiance to autocracy, ambitious and militant, in 1917; that could stem the tide of medievalism at Chateau Thierry, and dislodge the forces of the aggression at Saint Mihiel and in the Argonne. It seems appertinent to say that without such military success we could not be enjoying the happiness that we, as a people, are blessed with today. Yet it is true and we are here now to do honor to ourselves, to raise our estimate of our own citizenship by honoring our greatest benefactor, the plain American soldier.

How to Honor Them

"How, you may ask, shall we honor the soldier? Indeed, we can not adduster to his name. His deeds of heroism forbid. His name is immortal. We can cherish a grateful remembrance and we can do even more. We can make sure that in all our relations with him while he lives and with his dependents in future the scales of justice are not weighted to err on the side of ingratitude. And as to those who have lately borne the brunt of battle and who have come forth impaired in body or mind, we can see that nothing remains undone that can be done to relieve pain and to restore health, regardless of cost.

"But there is yet a finer and nobler way in which to honor the soldier. As he was willing to die for his country, and as many have done so, it is asking little of us to live for it. To live for one's country does not require the doing of things that seem large or conspicuous, but it means constant attention to the little things, the sum of which is good citizenship. It seems that we should be employed in constructive work of some character. The idler and the parasite are not good citizens, and the wealthy idler is more contemptible than the vagabond because he has superior means for doing something worth while," the speaker declared.

Must Hold Liberties

"We must not only employ our talents in performing some useful service but we must be on the alert when called upon to participate in civic activities," continued Judge Birdzell. "Our liberties, dearly won, are not safe in our hands unless we regard them sufficiently to use our franchise in the interest of civic righteousness as we see it, regardless of every foreign consideration, and whenever and wherever the opportunity is afforded.

"Neither are the demands of good citizenship met by the mere participation in public affairs. It is important that our participation shall be intelligent. We must strive to gain a broad understanding and appreciation of the basic principles of our government, so that we will not be in danger of losing our most valuable heritage through our failure to know how to preserve essential institutions. We must find ourselves in agreement upon the things that are essential. This is of sufficient importance in my estimation, to require emphasis by way of illustration gained from what always seemed to me to be a critical period in our history. I refer to the period that resulted in the adoption of the Constitution of the United States.

Shared Common Desire

"At the time of the Declaration of Independence, all shared the common desire to win independence in fact and to establish a government of sufficient dignity to guard the destinies of the colonies. The government, under the Articles of Confederation, though weak, did prove sufficiently strong to win in the immediate conflict. But when the enthusiasm of the hour had died away, it was found that the government had not been built upon any lasting principles and that it could not continue to command respect of those who owed it allegiance. The weakness of the Federal government was reflected in some of the states, and those who had made the unparalleled sacrifices necessary to win the independence found themselves bordering upon a state of chaos and anarchy. States were not only jealous of each other, but they enjoyed a free rein in making their jealousies effective and consequently destructive. Not only this but within the states themselves groups were formed who conceived themselves to be the rightful representatives of the government, though not the lawful representatives under their constitutions. The spirit of rebellion was in the air and anarchy was fast making headway. With this condition confronting the practical statesmen of the time, the bold spirits saw the necessity of building a government under a written constitution that all would respect. To this end they voluntarily summoned the Constitutional Convention to propose a constitution for a Federal government. They drew upon all the prior experiences of mankind in governmental experiment, and they framed a government based upon a division of powers and of checks and balances, as a guaranty against the extension of arbitrary power, which, after two years of agitation, they were able to set up as the true Federal government of the United States. Thus, our forefathers were saved from conditions that were fast leading to destruction. They were saved because they understood the necessity for government under a written constitution at the same time appreciated the necessity of keeping that government responsive to the popular will that it might serve as the protector and guardian of civil liberty."

Meet to Pay Tribute

Concluding, Judge Birdzell said: "So we are met here today to honor all who have taken up arms to defend the flag that represents all that

68 CANDIDATES GO ON BALLOT FOR NOMINATION IN JUNE PRIMARIES OF REPUBLICAN, DEMOCRATIC PARTIES

Two Nonpartisan Offices—Judge of Supreme Court and State Superintendent of Public Instruction—Also to be Voted On in the Primary; Official List of Candidates Mailed to County Auditors

The list of candidates for the primary election on June 28 was complete today. The time for petitions being on file was declared ended at 5 o'clock last evening at the secretary of state's office. Seth Richardson was the last candidate to file. Petitions putting him on the ballot for judge of supreme court were filed a few minutes before closing time.

Immediately after 5 o'clock the secretary of state's office prepared for mailing to county auditors the list of candidates to be put on the ballot. Withdrawals now would not keep names off the ballot, it is said.

The withdrawal of P. D. Norton narrowed the senatorial race to Senator McCumber, Lynn J. Frazier and Ormsby McHarg in the Republican primary while Frank O. Hellstrom and J. F. T. O'Connor will seek the nomination in the Democratic primary.

There are 11 candidates for judge of supreme court. The terms of three supreme court judges end next January. They are Judge Birdzell, Judge Robinson and Judge Grace. Judge Birdzell and Judge Robinson are candidates for reelection. Judge Grace declined the Nonpartisan endorsement. The names of the judges go on a nonpartisan ballot. Six will be nominated in the primary of June 28 and three elected in the fall.

On the other nonpartisan ballot State Superintendent of Public Instruction Minnie Nielson is opposed by Martha Fulton of Wahpeton. For the first time in years the Nonpartisans have no candidate for this nomination. Miss Fanny Amidon, their indersee, having withdrawn. Miss Fulton is independent, her friends say.

is good, all that is noble, all that is inspiring in the century and a half of our national existence. In this presence we are conscious of the sacrifices that have been made and we willingly take upon ourselves a renewed oath of allegiance. We vow now as did the immortal Lincoln at Gettysburg that our soldiers have not died in vain. And as we reflect upon the permanency of their achievements and of the nobility of their service we are tempted to paraphrase the lines of the poet who wrote in part:

"What is noble? That which places truth in its ex-franchised will. Leaving steps like Angel traces For mankind to follow still. Even though Time's destructive forces Level all our structures grand, Hes a noble 'who advances Freedom and the cause of man.' Such is the American soldier. May his countrymen ever hold him in grateful and loving remembrance!"

HE KNOWS WHEREOF HE SPEAK

J. F. Harper, 416 Navarre St., San Antonio, Texas, writes: "I consider Foley's Honey and Tar absolutely the best cough remedy on the market. I know whereof I speak, having tried it in my own family. My wife took a severe cough and at night it was almost incessant. I gave her a few doses of Foley's Honey and Tar. In a little while she went to sleep and slept soundly the entire night. Your remedy acts quickly and relief is permanent."

Have You Indigestion, Gas or Stomach Trouble?

READ THIS REMARKABLE CASE

Albert Lee, Minn.—"For over fifteen years I suffered with stomach trouble. I would have spells of acute indigestion and would suffer untold agony. Nothing I ate agreed with me, gas would form, and my food did not nourish me. I also had a lingering cough that was very annoying. I
